

CLEANING PLAN

Facilities will be faced with heightened expectations as employees, occupants, and guests seek assurance everything is being done to protect their health and safety. Facilities will need to adopt and implement a comprehensive cleaning and infection control plan that focuses on cleaning for health and instills confidence.

PARTNERS IN PROTECTION

ESTABLISH FOR PROTECTION

Facilities will adopt specific cleaning and disinfection protocols based on best practices and the concept of "Collaborative Cleaning" to break the chain of transmission.

What to Clean

Identify the specific surfaces, items and areas that need to be cleaned and disinfected, focusing on high-risk objects.

When to Clean

Set specific cleaning and disinfection frequencies, noting which surfaces and items need to be serviced multiple times per day.

Who Will Clean

Assign cleaning and disinfection tasks to specific individuals keeping in mind everyone will play an active role.

Priority Level

Note which items, surfaces, and areas are the highest priority and which can be skipped if absolutely necessary.

EDUCATE FOR PROTECTION

Once a facility has established the specific protocols that will be used, the next step is to put everyone who will play a role in a position to succeed. This involves comprehensive training and education of custodial professionals and 3rd party service providers, as well as, employees and other occupants. Training topics include basic cleaning and disinfection principles, cleaning processes and procedures, and helping everyone understand the importance of cleaning.

INSPECT FOR PROTECTION

- Specify when inspections will take place and who will perform the inspection.
- Note which specific rooms, areas, items and surfaces will be inspected.
- Identify how the inspection will be performed in terms of visual inspection, blacklight marking, or ATP.
- Highlight how cleanliness will be measured and what specific rating system will be used.
- Utilize the Triple S Gateway Mobile Inspection Platform to perform inspections and assessments.